[Bellinger, Alfred R., subject]

March 4, 1927

Gentlemen of the Council:-

Professor Alfred R. Bellenger of Yale University, during the past academic year, has been at Athens at the American School of Classical Studies. While there, he classified the Byzantine coins found in the excavations of the American School at Corinth and since his return, he has submitted to us for publication a manuscript regarding some of the results of his observations, having learned of a hoard of coins of the eighth and ninth centuries, which is in the possession of the Society, having been acquired in Greece by your secretary in 1923. He has suggested that he would be very glad to publish it, if he might take the coins to New Haven for study.

In view of our efforts to encourage numismatic work in universities, Mr. Newell authorized us to loan these coins to Professor Bellenger, at the same time directing me to prepare this explanatory memorandum and to submit it to your body, asking that his course receive your approval.

Respectfully submitted,

Secretary
